Airship Disaster Caused Shock Sunday

News Received Locally by Radio
Came as Staggering Blow and General Sympathy Felt

During the church hour on Sunday morning the news came through on the radio of the appalling disaster that befell the giant dirigible R 101. Leaving its home port of Cardington about 7 P.M. on Saturday evening, to make a trip to India, it crashed about seven hours later at Beauvais, France, 47 people being killed and their bodies burned beyond recognition.

The news caused a shock in the public mind throughout the world similar to the Titanic disaster in 1912, though far more lives were lost in that. The successful flight to Canada and return to England of its sister dirigible R 100 had caused people to expect an equally successful flight of the R-101, which made the shock more acute.

Until the investigation findings on the disaster are made known, the cause of the wreck will be a matter of surmise. Six survivors, members of the crew on duty at the time, have given graphic reports of their experiences, but as each only knew of the conditions in the particular spot of the huge airship in which he was on duty, no definite reason for the disaster has yet been ascertained.

The tragedy comes as a severe blow to the advocates of giant airship construction, for combined with the experiences of the past ten years, the loss of lives has caused much misgiving in the public mind as to their usefulness for commercial transportation.

In London the news was received as people were preparing to attend early church services. The early editions of the Sunday newspapers recorded the successful take-off, and just as the great British public were contentedly assuming that all was well with the giant airship which the previous evening had so bravely passed over the capital of the Empire with its blaze of lights gleaming through the rainstorm, along came special editions of the big dailies announcing the com-

Palace Theatre Notes

This week end George Bancroft in "Ladies Love Brutes" is the feature. On Monday Tues. Wed. the 100 per cent. color talkie "On With the Show," with a large number of celebrated screen stars, will be shown.

Other features for the near future are "Paramount on Parade," and "Young Eagles." The Universal News Reel, with Graham McNamee, brings a record of current news topics which prove very interesting as a special feature of the Palace programs.

The Palace showings are classic of the show world, and a fine line of pictures is booked for the winter season.

Presentations to Mr. and Mrs. J. Wood

After 15 years residence in Coleman, J. Wood, manager for P. Burns & Co.'s retail meat market, leaves this evening for New Denver, B.C., to manage a branch there. Mrs. Wood will leave in about a month.

On Tuesday evening, at the home of W. J. Burns, Crow's Nest Lake, Mr. Wood was presented with a parting gift by a number of his friends of Summit Lodge, in the form of engraved cuff links.

Mrs. Wood was honored by the Pythian Sisters at their regular meeting, being presented with an emblem pin.

Mrs. J. Emmerson went to Calgary on Wednesday by motor coach, to spend a day or two.

Complete wreck of the largest dirigible the world had seen

A Canadian Press staff correspondent says:—

"There had not been such a Sunday of whole-hearted sorrow since the early days of the war."

"Saddened with its load of grief, the British nation takes stock of its losses as represented by the charred heaps of twisted steel in a little French valley—all that remains of a proud aerial mistress."

"From throne and pulpit, the slums and Mayfair, lamentations and condolences go up as British hearts, torn as few things have torn them in recent years, extended the sympathies of the nation to the survivors of the R-101's cargo of dead. The Motherland in her sorrow has the sympathy of the dominions and colonies as the multitude of messages disclose."

"Great Britain's last glimpse of the R 101, her latest contribution to the mastery of the air, came as coast dwellers saw a giant ship snake through storm clouds over the channel. Back at Croydon, England's largest airport, however, unseen fingers of wireless maintained contact through the long watches of the night as a radio man exchanged signals with the operator on the airship. Officials' messages passed back and forth as she sailed on to her tragic doom."

"One of the R-101's last messages read: 'Passengers getting ready for bed after having enjoyed their meal and number of cigars'."

Board of Trade Executive Will Meet

Mr. Geo. Cruickshank Will Attend
Meeting to Discuss Public
Works and Unemployment

The executive of Coleman Board of Trade will meet on Friday evening to discuss matters relating to unemployment, and to draft recommendations to be made to the Federal and Provincial governments on public works to provide employment.

It is urged in some quarters that work of a useful nature would be that of clearing the proposed park site at Crow's Nest Lake, and engaging in such preliminary work as could be carried on during the winter.

Indications are that unemployment will be rife and the Board of Trade and town council are giving the matter their serious consideration.

Mr. Geo. Cruickshank, M.L.A., has promised to attend the meeting and it is probable he will have some information of interest concerning provincial work to be undertaken this winter.

The executive is composed of H. T. Halliwell, president; Geo. Pattinson, vice-president; W. L. Rippon, secretary; O. E. S. White, clerk; A. M. Morrison, municipal; M. W. Cooke, industrial; R. Laetle, publicity; Dr. R. P. Borden, highways; H. C. McBurney, tourist; Major R. F. Barnes, entertainment.

J. S. Whyte, tailor, has closed his business and left for Vancouver at Blairmore, where Mr. and Mrs. Whyte had resided for several years, they were honored by various social functions, and presentations of farewell gifts were made.

Secretary-Treasurer.

Council to Discuss Unemployment Problems

Will Hold Special Meeting This Evening to Make Recommendations to Government

Coleman town council has called a special meeting for this evening (Thursday) to consider recommendations to forward to the provincial and federal governments re unemployment relief measures.

The mines in the Crow's Nest Pass have worked less days this year than in 1929, when the unemployment problem was very acute. This year the problem will be accentuated, and so far there is little indication of an increase in the coal shipments.

Representatives of the Board of Trade and the local business union have been invited to discuss matters with the council at this evening's meeting.

Government Considering Extension of Subvention Rate

Secretary Neate of Dominion Fuel
Board to Confer With Mine
Operators in Pass

In reply to a resolution wired to the provincial government requesting that a subvention rate be applied to Alberta coal moved to Winnipeg and Manitoba for railway use, and which was forwarded after a meeting last Friday of Rocky Mountain branch of the Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, the acting prime minister, Sir George Perley, replied:

"Your telegram Oct. 3 received. Minister of Mines has matter under review. Will telegraph you without delay."

W. A. Gordon, minister of mines, wired:

"Your wire to acting prime minister respecting subvention Alberta and Eastern British Columbia coal for railway purposes now receiving careful consideration of government. Secretary of Fuel Board at present in Western Canada and will confer with you in next day or so concerning this subject."

It is expected that Mr. Neate, secretary of the Dominion Fuel Board, Ottawa, will meet the representatives of the mining companies here on Thursday and Friday.

ST. ALBAN'S CHURCH, COLEMAN

Sunday, Oct. 12, 17th after Trinity, services will be as follows: 2:30 p.m. Sunday school; 7 p.m. evensong and sermon.

The Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Larke entertained at tea on Friday afternoon the teaching staffs of the school, and the Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Partington, of the Anglican church.

Mrs. Annett Bereaved

Mrs. V. Annett received word last Friday of the death of her father, Mr. Alex. Dunlop, editor of the Neepawa Press, and left on Saturday to attend the funeral, which was held in Winnipeg. He was 74 years of age, and was well known throughout Manitoba, having published the Neepawa Press for a long number of years. He was a pioneer newspaperman, and in the early days of Edmonton went there with the now Hon. Frank Oliver, (plain Frank in those days) whose reputation for explosive language was known from Winnipeg to the Rockies, and beyond. Later Mr. Dunlop was connected with the Manitoba Free Press, Winnipeg, and subsequently settled down in Neepawa.

Dr. and Mrs. Annett recently visited the latter's parents, and though her father was not in the best of health then, the end was not expected so quickly.

It is not likely Mrs. Annett will return to Coleman, as her husband is planning to leave shortly for Bristol, Eng., to engage in practice there, and she will probably go over with him.

Local News

Mrs. Sidney Short spent part of the week with her parents in Lethbridge.

A social evening in the club room of the United church was heartily enjoyed by the older members of the congregation and their friends on Monday evening.

Marjorie and Christina McLeod have returned from Mercoal, and will attend school here. They are at present staying with their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. H. McLeod.

Town of Coleman

NOTICE is hereby given that applications may be made up to Oct. 21 for inclusion in the voters' list of the Town of Coleman.

The wife, husband, father and mother and every son and daughter of any person whose name appears upon the assessment roll are entitled to be placed upon the list.

If he or she is resident with said person within the town, and full age of twenty-one, and his or her name does not already appear on the roll.

All tenants who have an assessed parcel for a period of twelve months, immediately preceding the last day of August.

What Is Right With Canada?

A moderate optimist, we are told, is one who sees both the good and the bad, the pleasing and the displeasing, the bright and the dark, the encouraging and the discouraging, but prefers to think and talk about the brighter and better things.

At the present time we have more than a sufficiency of pessimists, crappe-hangers, disseminators of blue ruin gossip. We also have a few incorrigible optimists who shut their eyes and ears to the actual facts of any situation and cry "All is well."

What Canada and the world needs today are moderate optimists, men and women who, looking at both sides of the picture, refuse to be depressed by the darker colors and shadows and find encouragement and great promise in the brighter colors and the rays of sunshine breaking through the clouds.

Major Yeats-Brown, an Englishman, is the type of moderate optimist whose number should be multiplied. As an offset to the many things that have been said in answer to the query: "What is Wrong with England?" he advances the question: "What is Right with England?" and proceeds to answer his own question most entertainingly in the London Spectator.

Would it not be advisable for us in this country to also reverse the usual question we hear so often asked these days, and rather, make answer to the query: "What is Right with Canada?" We may well do so, because there are so many things that are right with this Dominion, so many more right things than there are wrong things, that we are doubly foolish to ignore them and dwell upon the smaller ills.

Looking around Canada we can discover a multitude of good things, the very best things. We find, for example, one of the most healthy, robust people in the world, possessing an abounding vitality and charged with initiative and energy. And of all the blessings which can be bestowed upon a nation or individual, what other one blessing, or group of blessings, surpasses that of health? Possessing health all things are possible; lacking it all the wealth of the world is valueless to bring joy and happiness into one's life.

Looking at other countries, we find many of them filled with hatreds, with strife upmost in the minds of the people, their thoughts and energies devoted to preparation for possible warfare. In Canada, on the other hand, we have a land occupied by a peace-loving people with a positive and growing hatred of war, making no preparations for war, but devoting their thoughts and energies to the arts and advancements of peace. No other country in the world is so "right" on the subject of peace and disarmament as is Canada.

Grouped with health and a sane viewpoint of man's relations to man we can place the moral and intellectual outlook of a nation. Looking over our broad Dominion we find a deep-rooted moral fibre, strong and sturdier than in most lands, with an abiding respect for law and order which no other country can excel, and which far surpasses that entertained by the people of any other country in either North or South America. We find Canada a land of schools and universities, a land in the very front rank of all movements for social betterment, a land the very foundations of which are sound, strong and stable.

Generally speaking, too, Canadian institutions of all kinds, whatever their faults, are strong and sound, constituting a bulwark in defence of the people. A bank failure in Canada is a rare thing; our railways are progressive and efficient, fitting their programmes well into the life and needs of the Dominion. We are not—and never can be—immune from the vicissitudes and effects of world conditions and happenings, but, even so, we have it within ourselves, in our institutions and resources, to withstand the evil effects of world matters beyond our own direct control, and to rally from those bad effects more rapidly than any other land. At this present time, Canada, notwithstanding its difficulties and business depression, is infinitely better off and stronger than most countries, and is suffering from less unemployment, proportionate to its population, than the United States.

Let us, therefore, dwell a little more on "What is Right?" and the effect of doing so will unquestionably be to lessen interest in the more depressing question "What is Wrong?" Isn't the search for right things most likely to expand and thus diminish keenness in the search for wrong things? And isn't it just possible that the volume of right things will grow and be properly recognized until presently the wrong things are forgotten, or at most given their proper relative place in the general scheme? Let us join the quest of the moderate optimist.

IRISH POET IN NEW YORK

George Russell, Irish poet, essayist and economist, has arrived in New York with what he believes is a system of agricultural co-operation that will bring economic relief to the farmer. The distinguished visitor, who is well known under the pen name of "AE," plans to visit every town in the union during his six months' visit.

To Study Canadian Methods

Seed Potatoes From Maritimes Make Hit With American Growers

The humble spud, which is produced in such quantities in the maritime provinces, has become almost a trade mark of Canada in some American markets, and it rose to real prominence during a visit of 160 members of the Pennsylvania Potato Growers' Association to New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. These two areas produce the finest seed potatoes on the continent, and the purpose of the visit by the delegation was to study the method under which these superior spuds are raised. The provincial departments of agriculture fed the visitors and showed them all that was to be seen.

CONSTIPATED CHILDREN

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of childhood and the child suffering from it positively cannot thrive. To keep the little one well the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. To do this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild and thorough laxative, are pleasant to take and can be given to the newborn babe with perfect safety. Thousands of mothers use no other medicine for their little ones but Baby's Own Tablets. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Refreshing Treat

Church Supply Gives People Opportunity For Sociability

The season for the church supper and the festival is here. These delightful events crowd the late summer and early autumn evenings. In this day and generation of so-called high-speed existence when we seem to depend so largely on manufactured employment it is indeed a refreshing treat to attend the rural church supper or festival. At these events there is to be found wholesomeness and a plenty of food and association for greater value than the price paid for the ticket. These affairs are conducted for profit of course, but is a broader profit than monetary gain alone.

Sleep is the great nourisher of infants, and without peaceful sleep the child will not thrive. This cannot be got if the infant be troubled with worms. Miller's Worm Powders will destroy worms and drive them from the system, and afterwards the child's rest will be undisturbed. The powders cannot injure the most delicate baby, and there is nothing so effective for restoring the health of a worm-worm infant.

American Farmer Sees His Holdings Diminute Under Successive Administrations

Senator Theodore E. Caraway, of Arkansas, in a speech before the state Democratic convention, described himself as an "ex-farmer."

Impatient For Disarmament

League Of Nations Is Called Upon To Take Quick Action

A vehement and sometimes impatient demonstration, urging the hastening of the League of Nations' disarmament programme and early calling of a general conference for reduction and limitation of armaments, was witnessed in the League assembly's disarmament committee at Geneva recently.

From this rally there arose a promise of J. J. Loudon, chairman of the preparatory disarmament commission, that the commission would meet November 3 and fervently seek to finish its task of clearing the way completely for a congress of all nations to construct a scheme of general disarmament. Voices from countries that were neutral during the World War, joined those from states which were disarmed by the war in the demand that the League should get along quickly with its long delayed purpose of inducing nations to lay aside their fighting.

German Property Sequestered

Conversations Between Officials Of Canadian and German Governments To Be Held

German property seized in Canada during the war will be the subject of conversations between officials of the German government and Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state. Accompanied by Thomas Mulvey, under-secretary of state, Mr. Cahan will visit New York. Discussions will take place in Berlin.

Of the large amount of property of German nationals sequestered by the Canadian government during the war, some $600,000 remains unliquidated. In January, 1930, the government agreed that the unliquidated property consists chiefly of land and securities that it has been found difficult to market. There still will remain in the hands of the Dominion government more than enough to settle all claims by Canadian civilians for reparations as a result of enemy action in war-time.

English Being Taught

In German Schools

Classes Are Popular and Students Show Great Interest

Every boy and girl in Germany is being taught English, according to Prof. Max Zimpe, author of English and German textbooks, who was in New York recently.

"Our students are tremendously interested in anything about America," he explained. "Every language teacher reports that the classes teaching English are very popular. We teach the same pronunciation heard in the South of England."

The school system in Germany is quite different to the United States, the visiting professor says. Over there the aim is to have an aristocracy of learning. They do not desire to have every boy and girl graduate, but rather to make the work so difficult that only the brightest pupils can finish their high school course. Children who are backward in school are given a sound elementary training and then the government apprentices them to a good trade for four years.

SAYS CANADA IS NOW EMERGING FROM DEPRESSION

Winnipeg, Man.—Veering toward thrift, viewing her future with stern-faced confidence, Canada, already moving out of a depression period, was advised to pay even more attention to business by General Sir Arthur Currie, president of McGill University, and wartime commander of the Canadian expeditionary force overseas. In an address to members of the Winnipeg young men's board of trade, he pronounced himself more proud and more confident of Canada than ever before, after a searching inspection of the west, and he thought the Dominion was on the way to cutting extravagance.

"I know there is too much luxury, too much extravagance," asserted Sir Arthur, "but hard times are ebbing and so, of course, is a blessing flow. I know we are not thrifty enough, but I believe we are becoming more serious."

"Passing, as she is, through a somewhat uncertain and somewhat anxious time," the Dominion is without any sign of walling, Sir Arthur observed. "We no longer hear whispers of death, no longer hear of the secession of the Maritime provinces, no longer hear that the Prairie provinces will join to the United States, no longer hear that we are passing rapidly to our doom."

He added: "I am glad that this is so. I can't hear to hear so many announcements or denunciations that we are an enervated or a played-out race."

Sir Arthur spoke enthusiastically of the Peace River country. "The great kingdom of the Peace," he termed the extensive Alberta agricultural area.

The total number of radio licenses issued for the first five months of the current fiscal year was 349,675, which also indicates a steady increase in the number of radios operated in the Dominion.

Vancouver Wheat Exports

Shipments To Date Double The Amount Of Record Year

Vancouver, B.C.—Wheat exported from Vancouver during the current crop year to date totalled 8,283,378 bushels, double the amount shipped out during the same period of the record crop year of 1928-29 through Vancouver, when total shipments reached 100,000,000 bushels. Last year at this time only 2,679,378 bushels had been shipped.

Stresses Empire's Greatness

Hon. R. B. Bennett Addresses Brilliant Gathering In London

London, England.—With a brilliant gathering in attendance the delegates to the Imperial Conference were entertained at the Guildhall by the Royal Empire Society and other Imperial bodies.

"In the diversity of the peoples of our Empire, their talents and their resources, lies the real secret of the Empire's greatness," declared Hon. R. B. Bennett, prime minister of Canada, in his address.

The speech of the Canadian prime minister was greeted several times by cheers.

"Before us," said Mr. Bennett, "lie the task of Empire consolidation and with that task we meet in the heart of this great city, where trade, commerce, finance, and other great affairs engage the attention of the world as our Empire as an economic unit."

Mr. Bennett was cheered when he declared the nations of the Empire were not yet bankrupt in statesmanship. Men and women occupying a quarter of the land surface of the globe and comprising a quarter of its population, were still capable, by guidance and leadership, of achieving in the future what they had not already achieved, namely, the economic solidarity of the Empire which was as capable of achievement as the development of their constitutional liberties had been.

Canada's Fire Loss Heavy

Total Of $47,000,000 Shown In Report For Last Year

Ottawa, Ont.—The fact that Canada's fire loss last year—$47,000,000—represented almost two and one-half times the amount the Dominion Government set aside to relieve unemployment, was called up by Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, to impress on delegates to the Dominion Fire Prevention Association convention the need for greater effort.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was also present, and was introduced by Mr. Shapley, Toronto, is the new president.

Among the many resolutions given approval was one recommending that institutions receiving financial assistance from federal, provincial or municipal authorities be compelled to provide adequate fire safeguards.

First C.P.R. Train Reaches Historic Town Of Battledore

Battledore, Sask.—Another page in the history of Battledore was written when the first Canadian Pacific railway train pulled into the depot at 12:30 on the afternoon of Sept. 30.

To the citizens who crowded the station platform, it was a fulfillment of a long cherished hope, which had its birth in 1875, when the first project was made which was to carry the steel from Winnipeg, Fort Livingstone, Battledore, through the Yellow Head Pass to New Westminster.

In 1881 it was decided that the route should be reversed to serve the southern part of the province, and for nearly half a century citizens of this historic town have labored for the achievement marked recently.

Have Extensive Program

Railways To Proceed With Construction And Improvement Work

Ottawa, Ont.—Official announcement has been made by Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor, that the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways would proceed immediately with a $21,000,000 construction and improvement work. Employment for 10,000 men would thereby be provided for a year, and 2,000 teams of horses would be given work for a considerable part of the time, especially for grading purposes. The employment of teams will help the farmers in many districts.

To Teach Natives

Leningrad, Russia.—Geologists, pedagogues and other scientists have gone to northernmost Siberia where 5,000 nomads live in one of the remotest corners of the world. They expect to teach the natives how to fish better, to start reindeer farms, a chamois tannery, meat canneries and a plant to make iodine from seaweed.

Order-In-Council Grants Loan

Winnipeg, Man.—Order-in-council granting a loan of $30,000 to the Manitoba Cattle Loan Association was passed by Manitoba's cabinet council. The association secured the money at five per cent, and will charge its members seven per cent, for advances secured by lien notes on cattle purchased.

GOV'T PROGRAM ENLARGED FOR RELIEF PURPOSES

Ottawa, Ont.—Details of the Federal Government's campaign to relieve unemployment in Canada were outlined recently by Senator Gordon Robertson, Minister of Labor. Between $80,000,000 and $90,000,000 will be "put to work" to better distress conditions and provide work for Canadians, he said. This included the $20,000,000 supplied by parliament at the last session, the remainder being contributions from the provinces and the municipalities, and the $21,000,000 program of construction and improvement work to be undertaken by the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific railways.

The Federal Government's scheme was not limited to setting aside money for construction in co-operation with the provinces and municipalities, the Minister of Labor declared. A sum of $4,000,000 would be set aside for "direct relief." The grade separation fund of the board railway commissioners would be augmented by a total of $1,000,000 for the benefit of any subway work undertaken. The government would contribute on a 50-50 basis with the provinces in building a trans-Canada highway from Sydney to Vancouver, and was prepared to pay 40 per cent of the cost of general provincial highway work this winter.

There will be other angles to the government's relief program, Senator Robertson emphasized. Tariff changes made at the last session would afford immense stimulus to Canadian industry, he believed, and would result in the creation of more jobs. Restrictions had been placed on immigration for the benefit of Canadian labor. It was the minister's belief that the expenditure of $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 throughout Canada in relief work by one kind or another, would reach every type of laborer, clerk or artisan.

The program of construction and improvement to be undertaken by the two large railroad companies, which has been formally approved by the cabinet, would result in the employment of 10,500 men for a year, Senator Robertson said. In addition, 2,000 teams of horses would be needed for grading purposes and this would be of benefit to great numbers of farmers. The whole program, he stated, called for the expenditure of $21,000,000 with work to start immediately. Orders would be placed at once for rails, Nova Scotia coal and other necessary supplies. Because these orders were not usually given at this time of the year, it would be necessary for the railroads to raise the money, Senator Robertson explained. Because of this, the government had decided to set aside $1,500,000 out of the $20,000,000 fund to guarantee interest and carrying charges to the railroads.

Found Water Too Cold

Dover, England.—Miss Mercedes Glezer, British woman swimmer, failed in a new attempt to swim the English Channel. Entering the water she stayed in only about four hours, abandoned her efforts because of the intense cold.

ROBERT BUCK, TO ATTEMPT TO LOWER RECORD

Robert Buck, 18-year-old Elizabeth, N.J., who made his first flight eight months ago, will take off on his Pitcairn biplane in an attempt to lower the junior coast-to-coast flight record. He is a friend of Eddie Schneider, 18, present holder of the transcontinental mark.

MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE

Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture in the Federal Cabinet.

Staff Reduced When Resources Handled Over

Accounts Can Be Handled By Smaller Number Of Clerks

Edmonton, Alberta.—No ceremony of any kind marked the formal transfer of Alberta's natural resources, twenty-eight officials, clerks and stenographers in the Dominion Lands office, found themselves out of employment, as transfer of the resources was made.

Regina, Sask.—Effective reduction of staff to permit financial savings by the administration of the natural resources is forecast by Premier J. T. M. Anderson in a statement issued as the provincial government took over the natural resources of Saskatchewan.

The transfer of the natural resources involves the transfer of about 20,000 accounts for grazing, leasing, mining claims, timber permits and contracts, land sales and contracts and school land contracts.

Won Citizenship After Long Court Battle

But Woman Refused To Take Oath U.S. Oath For Naturalization

Linna, O.—Mrs. Carl Landis, Philadelphia, who refused to take oath to kill in defense of the United States, is now a citizen after a court battle lasting a year and a half.

She took the oath of allegiance still reserving her opposition to bearing arms; she would serve as a nurse and shed her blood if necessary in time of war.

Common Pleas Judge A. M. Rogers admitted the reservation and granted citizenship over the protest of the assistant supervisor of naturalization.

Mrs. Landis came from Alsace-Lorraine in 1910, and was married since she began her fight for citizenship.

Eleven Burned In Explosion

Veleya, Guanajuato, Mexico.—Eleven persons were badly burned in 5,000 skrocks exploded in San Miguel cathedral during the celebration of the San Miguel Saint's Day. The fireworks, which had been stored in the church for the celebration, were ignited by a skyrocket which exploded.

Maritime Ports Are Important To Canada

Only Avenues Open On Our Atlantic Coast At Certain Seasons

Halifax, N.S.—Emphasizing the important position the ports of the Maritime provinces hold in relation to the Dominion at large, Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railway, reminded his hearers at a luncheon given in his honor here, that, at certain seasons of the year the harbors of the Maritime provinces are the only avenues of ingress and egress on the Canadian Atlantic coast.

To contemplate any separation of the Maritimes from the rest of Canada, said Sir Henry, "would be to contemplate economic suicide." The position of the Maritimes economically, he added, was the best in the Dominion today. He pledged the fullest co-operation and support of the C.N.R. in development of the port and province.

Making Inspection Trip

Hon. R. J. Manion To Look Over Bay Railway and Terminals

Ottawa, Ont.—On his first inspection trip, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, departed from the capital to make a personal survey of the Hudson Bay Railway and the terminals at Churchill, Dr. Manion will be absent from Ottawa for a fortnight.

Accompanying Dr. Manion were his deputy, D. I. Smart, Col. A. E. Dubuc, chief engineer of the department, and James Haddon, assistant high commissioner for Great Britain.

ARE PLEDGED TO THE CAUSE OF EMPIRE TRADE

London, England.—The self-governing nations of the British Commonwealth pledged themselves to the cause of empire trade. Throughout the speeches which marked the opening proceedings of the Imperial Conference the ever-recurring note was the desire to co-operate, to meet the common problem with common action.

"I should like to make this conference an epoch in the history of the world," declared Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in a radio broadcast. "Our weakness," he continued, "is in our psychology far more than in our skill or our resources."

It is a renewal of will that we need," said the British Prime Minister, in opening the conference, "is, I would suggest, what practical means we can devise for helping one another, and thereby helping us all, always remembering the different world contacts and internal industrial circumstances to which we have to accommodate ourselves."

The conference, for the first time met in the great Locarno room of the Foreign Office.

"At this table," said Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, "are the shades of many great men and of many great events which are enshrined in a history common to us all. They do not receive from all of us the same welcome or the same homage. But there are, dignified by time, their aspects and their results smoothed and mellowed by the passing of the years and by the progression of the pageantry of history which is now our inheritance for good or for ill."

"We are all in the flesh, with fate or destiny still unwritten regarding who have to live and plan for the future. We face a world still unsettled; beyond us is a prospect of intangible fears, set purposes, unhappy suspicions, firm convictions, numbing experiences and yet defiant idealism, and it is our lot to try and find a sure way amidst the confusions—

—a way which those who will sit here at this table will gladly pursue to the goals which are to us but promises. If it be our good fortune to find that way, it is only because we have confidence in each other, because we are inspired in all our deliberations by the spirit of free association, and guided by a will to co-operate not only in settling our own difficulties but in giving an example of autonomy within unity to the rest of the world."

And the sentiments voiced by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald were echoed in the subsequent speeches of the Dominion prime ministers.

"My colleagues and I represent the people of Canada," Mr. Bennett declared. "We come to this conference not only with a message of affection and goodwill, but in the strong belief that, by the concerted action of the whole, we can advance the interests of all sections of the Empire."

PROSPECTS FOR GREATER TRADE WITH ANTIPODES

London, England.—The Imperial Conference of the British nations has got down to work and the first business was concerned with constitutional questions, which arose from the Balfour report of the 1926 Imperial Conference dealing with equality of status as between Dominions and the mother country.

In the background of the constitutional discussion was the speech made by Hon. Patrick McGilligan, Irish minister of external affairs. "For us," said Mr. McGilligan, "the recognition of our position as a free sovereign state comes before all other consideration."

But it was not in the council room alone that progress was made. Canada and Australia, represented by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, and by Prime Minister James Scullin of Australia, and Hon. P. L. Maloney, Australian Minister of Markets, respectively, opened conversations with the greater development of mutual trade goals.

It was found that both countries can buy from each other many things they now buy outside the Empire. Australia had dried fruits and oranges, pineapples and wool to offer Canada, which at present buys pineapples from the Hawaiian Islands, and wool on the New York market. And Australia, it was pointed out, buys from foreign sources a number of products she could just as well take from Canada.

Hon. Mr. Stevens also had some informal conversations with the New Zealand representatives in regard to trade with New Zealand. Particular attention being paid to the higher Canadian tariff on butter, which is to be eight cents instead of four cents a pound.

Scholarships Awarded To Canadian Nurses

Will Take Post Graduate Course In Public Health Nursing

Ottawa, Ont.—Following a policy in the organization since 1921, during which time 144 scholarships have been granted to the Victoria General Hospital, Canada has again given scholarships to enable well qualified nurses to take a post graduate course in public health nursing at Canadian universities.

This year's awards have been made to Miss Hazel Latimer and Miss Edith Stevenson, both of Ottawa; Miss Elizabeth Edwards, Kingston, Ont.; Miss Mary Henderson, Niagara Falls, Ont.; Miss Margaret Ferguson and Miss Jean Watt, both of London, Ont.; Miss Annie R. Smith, of Calgary, and Miss Jacqueline Noel of Montreal.

Pays Extreme Penalty

Gordon Northcott Hanged For Chicken Ranch Murders

San Quentin, Cal.—Gordon Stewart Northcott, 23, chicken rancher of Wineville, Cal., was hanged here for the murder of three young boys after he had left a written confession of his crime and faked a suicide attempt.

Northcott was led blindfolded to the gallows and collapsed as he stumbled up the 13 steps to the scaffold platform. Guards held him until the trap was sprung at 10:03 a.m. just as Rev. Larry Newgent, Los Angeles evangelist, was intoning verses of consolation from the 14th chapter of St. John.

Develop Wheat Markets

Federal Government Appropriates Sum Of Money For Practical Demonstrations

Ottawa, Ont.—In an effort to develop the markets for Canadian wheat, the Dominion Government has appropriated a sum of money to be used in practical demonstrations of the use of Canadian flours for baking purposes.

These demonstrations will take place at different points in the United Kingdom, subsequently expanded to European countries.

Pilot's Death "Misadventure"

And the sentiments voiced by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald were echoed in the subsequent speeches of the Dominion prime ministers. "My colleagues and I represent the people of Canada," Mr. Bennett declared. "We come to this conference not only with a message of affection and goodwill, but in the strong belief that, by the concerted action of the whole, we can advance the interests of all sections of the Empire."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Prosperity is just around the corner, states President E. W. Beatty, of the C.P.R. Others of lesser importance join in chorus. Others say keep on spending and business will go on as usual. A prominent British banker on a visit to Canada says only the utmost thrift and economy will help to solve the problems from which the world is suffering.

Here are direct contradictions by prominent men as to how the economic problems may be alleviated. Meanwhile the ordinary individual just grapples with the problem from day to day, pay his debts, if he can, and comes to the conclusion that a lot of absolutely pure bunkum is being handed out.

Optimistic—people may be, but it has come to the stage where one hesitates to predict anything; to accept the chances of every day as being sufficient to worry about for the time being.

How can people in the Crows Nest Pass keep on spending? Our only source of revenue is from the coal mined from these mountains. If others cannot buy our coal, naturally the flow of capital paid out in wages ceases. With it ceases spending power. The solution is beyond our brain to perceive. At least we will frankly admit it, and not kid ourselves that prosperity is just around the corner. Gladly we will greet it when it arrives, and face to-day's conditions with the knowledge that you cannot get blood out of a turnip.

Now it is the turn of the Crows Nest Pass to tune in on the general demand for some of the twenty millions voted for unemployment relief. Numerous suggestions have been made, Coleman having its own as well as the rest of the world. Undoubtedly still further low water marks will be touched before the tide begins to turn. Might as well face the facts squarely, then there will be no disappointment.

People who have experienced difficulties and overcome them will not be given to worrying a great deal over the present situation. Where there's a will there's a way. The weaklings or those who have built business on poor foundations will go to the wall. This is always the experience when a period of depression prevails.

Despite trade conditions, there is always opportunity for creative effort. Perhaps you will not realize in the immediate present, and possibly later on you will be well repaid. There are always possibilities. And to reap you must sow, no matter if times be prosperous or otherwise.

Where there are people, there is news. Where there is news, there is business. There is business going on wherever there are communities of people. And there is keen competition from many angles to get a share of that business. The glum individual who stares through the window and tells everyone that business is rotten is contributing to his own downfall. Buck up, look for the sunshine, be cheerful, and use every moment of the day in an enthusiastic endeavor to interest others.

There is the story of the frog falling into a big crock of cream. He didn't give up trying to get out, but kicked and kicked until finally he worked up that cream to such a thickness that he walked out.

There are two kinds of kickers, of course. Everyone likes to see a fellow with some "kick".

Farbey and Bryson, two Communist agitators who appeared before a Calgary judge for inciting workers to riot, took their medicine like meek little lambs. They were given the merciful option of going to jail for a year or taking a pledge to observe the laws as dutiful citizens. They wisely choose the latter. And to think that individuals of this type aspired to lead the workers of the Crows Nest Pass and other coal towns in Alberta towards a solution of the serious problems of the day.

There is a lesson for John O'Sullivan, too. He may brag about not liking the Union Jack, yet he remains under its protection under the guise of trying to improve conditions for Canadian workers by introducing Soviet methods. Such utter rot! He is utterly misguided in his ideas.

Last week an old gentleman 75 years of age took his life near Pincher Creek, on a farm he is reported to have previously owned, and on which he was working. Despondent, no doubt, and living in the past with its memories, bitter and sweet, he must have come to the conclusion that the future held nothing for him.

You Get What You Pay For

(By G. F. Bouchat)

If mail order houses possess such gigantic purchasing powers, why do they not sell hundreds of articles which are found on the shelves of your local druggist, cheaper than you can purchase them locally?

Simply because when quality creeps into the picture their dollars have no more value than any other merchants. I do not of course mean by this that quality merchandise is unobtainable from mail order houses. Quality can be obtained, but remember you will have to pay the price.

Without hesitation I could enumerate at least a dozen lines of high class, widely advertised lines of toilet articles such as creams, powders and lotions which are listed in their catalogues at identically the same prices as those charged by your local druggist. The only difference lies in the fact that by purchasing locally you have no postage or money order fees to contend with.

Manufacturers of these lines are the best ingredients procurable in their preparations—work on small margins of profit—and depend on volume of sales which can only be attained by the good will of the consumer. This good will is cultivated by national advertising and by giving value for the money expended.

Occasionally we find manufacturers who are unable to stand the pressure of present day competition, step from the straight and narrow path by accepting orders from these organizations for their products which must be put up according to certain specifications. Should the manufacturer not be willing to make a sacrifice in the quality of the ingredients used, or should he refuse to camouflage the package by reducing the quantity, for fear of detection, there remains only one other route from which he can be approached.

They are instructed as to where the sacrifice can be made and are asked to put it up under the buyer's own trade name. Manufacturers who value their good name usually accept under these conditions, as in this way all fear of detection is eliminated. And this is where mail order houses fatten their purses at your expense.

No drastic price cutting takes place—they sell at practically the same price as nationally advertised lines—but, make from two to three times as much profit on an inferior preparation as your local dealers.

We need not go far to discover such offenders. Only a few weeks ago in one of our western cities I found a manufacturer of toilet preparations enjoying marvelous sales of their product—sales wrought on the merits of their goods alone.

Before I left the general sales manager informed me that they were putting up tooth paste for mail order houses and foreign-owned chain stores, under their individual trade names. He also confessed that owing to the inferior ingredients they were permitted to use in preparing these special brands, they were able to sell these organizations at almost one half the price they were compelled to charge on their regular brands.

I wonder if these manufacturers realize that the moment this information leaks out, they will discover they have committed suicide?

And that is the sort of junk you have been buying—cut prices on standard articles have been flashed in your face, so that psychologically you might assume that if it were possible for them to sell standard articles at such low prices, if it were at all possible for them to sell their own brands for less they would do so. You have responded to their trickery on the strength that price has always been an indicator of quality.

Is it not time for you to wake up? Take off those smoke-glasses and throw them in the river—they look better on fish anyway. And remember I was one of the fish myself, for a long time.

Whether it be toilet articles, soaps, prescriptions or pitch forks, remember there are tricks to all lines.

My entire life has been spent in studying merchandising methods from every angle, so I should know what I am talking about. I do not ask you to take all of my statements for granted—make your own comparisons—delve into these things for yourselves, and I know that you will also come to the conclusion that the golden rule, "Do unto others as you wish they would do unto you," has been discarded for the more modern rule, "Do the other fellow before he does you."

Good Towns and Good Newspapers Work Together

Here is an extract from a newspaper exchange:

Perhaps you know (and perhaps you do not know) that every public movement, to succeed, is first placed before the public in the newspapers; the more carefully and thoroughly it is "sold" by the papers to the community, the greater its success. Very rarely, indeed, does a movement not favored by the newspapers come to success.

Friends of local newspapers who cannot help by advertising can help almost as much by occasionally speaking to those who should advertise.

Tell them you want better advertising—description of goods, with price.

Tell them that the merchant who is afraid to announce his goods does not get your favors—that courage counts in trade as well as in everything else.

Tell them that you want to help build up and support the community but they must meet you half way.

Thus you will build up the inseparable triangle—strong newspapers, good towns, prosperous people.

INDIGESTION

Banished by Kruschen

"I suffered for some years from a bad stomach. I used to feel very miserable after meals. The doctor advised me to take Epsom Salts, but it did me no good. I decided to try Kruschen and am now taking it, and have done for the past 12 months, and I am very glad to tell you that my stomach is now in perfect order. I feel as young in spirit as I was 20 years ago, thanks to Kruschen." (W.B.)

You know how badly an engine runs when it gets choked up. It's the same with your body when your gastric or digestive juices fail to flow. What you need is a tonic—Nature's own tonic—Nature's six mineral salts.

You get all these six salts in Kruschen. The first effect of these salts is to promote the flow of the saliva and so awaken the appetite. The next action occurs in the stomach where the digestive juices are encouraged to pour out and act upon the food. Again, in the intestinal tract, certain of these salts promote a further flow of these vital juices which deal with partly digested food and prepare it finally for absorption into the system.

Shipbuilding in Sweden

Sweden Maintains Lead in Industry Among Scandinavian Countries

Sweden maintains its lead in the shipbuilding industry among the Scandinavian countries, according to the latest reports. At the Swedish yards 26 vessels with an aggregate tonnage of 127,000 gross tons were in the course of construction at the end of the first half-year. Denmark came second with 29 ships of 116,000 gross tons and Norway third with 33 ships of 40,000 gross tons. Of the ships at present being built in Sweden nine are steamers or motorships, 2,600 gross tons each, two motorships of 2,600 to 4,000 tons, four motorships of 5,000 to 6,000 tons, and six motorships of 8,000 to 10,000 tons.

Shortest Name For Horse

Racer In England Answers To Name Of "O"

There's a race horse in England named "O." This establishes a practically unassailable record for brevity. One suspects that its owner, Mrs. G. L. Redmond, an American, saw an opportunity to attract a little attention by thus naming the nag, although with so many horses running around these days owners have just about run out of names.

In the United States, there is a rule that a period of 15 years must elapse before a name once used by a race horse can be used again. Over in England the only restrictions are that you cannot name your horse after the winner of one of the "classes" nor for a living person without obtaining permission.

The "classes" are five in number, although the term is frequently abused. The Thousand and Two Thousand Guineas, the Derby, Oaks and St. Leger. Horses winning these races retain their individual names in perpetuity.

DELIGHTFUL WEAR

All Tingley models are created and sketched in Paris and the patterns are made in New York. If small daughter is wanting some long-sleeved little dresses for the cooler days here is a charming model. If long sleeves are not in demand then this model is equally suitable because the lower sleeve can be omitted and Hey Presto!—short sleeves!

Very pretty is this dress carried out as the sketch in a fine kasha weave in challis or some similar thin woven or wool and cotton. The original in scarlet kasha has yellow and blue blanket stitch (crochet will do) of the edges, sleeve joins, and cross stitchery for decorative here and there. Owing to its coloring and trim the model assumes a charming in its short sleeved form in cottons and washing silks.

This pattern may be obtained in sizes 2 to 6. It is ready for immediate delivery. It is hand cut. Send 25 cents (in stamps or coin) to Fashion Bureau. Write carefully and plainly your name and full address, the number of the pattern and the size you want.

MARY, THE MOTHER OF JESUS—AN EXAMPLE OF MOTHERHOOD

Golden Text: "Mary kept all these sayings, pondering them in her heart."—Luke 2:19.

Lesson: Luke 2:15-19; John 2:1-5.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 67.

Explanations and Comments

The Mother of the Babe, Luke 2:15-19. "The shepherds were amazed at the message which had come to them, but they were not incredulous, and they said, 'Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing that is come to pass which the Lord hath made known unto us.' Read the whole beautiful story in Luke 2:15-19. They went and found the Christ-child in the manger, and his mother Mary, and also Joseph. To Mary and Joseph the shepherds told what they had heard and all marvelled, but Mary retained their words in her heart, pondering them over and over.

The Mother Of The Man, John 2:1-5. "The third day after Jesus' talk with Nathanael, John 1:45-51. He came to Cana of Galilee, Nathanael's home town. At a house where Mary was well known, wedding festivities were being held, and when her son appeared with his followers they were invited to attend. Toward the end of the festivities, which lasted several days, the supply of wine began to give out. Mary saw this, and turned to Jesus for help. 'They have no more wine,' she told him. 'She made no request; she simply told him of the situation.

The Mother Of The Saviour, John 19:25-27. Standing by the Cross of Christ were His mother, her sister Salome, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene. (The two phrases, 'His mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas,' may be taken to refer to one woman, but in that case the two sisters were both called Mary, which is improbable.)

Of the weight of her affliction! Here, who won God's benediction, Here, who bore God's Holy One! O that speechless, ceaseless yearning! O those dim eyes never turning From her wondrous, suffering Son!

Jesus looked upon His mother and John ("the disciple whom He loved")—John never mentions his own name in his Gospel!—and said to His mother, "Woman, behold, thy son!" and to John, "Behold, thy mother!" Dr. P. B. Meyer suggests that Jesus would not call her "mother" lest identification with Himself might expose her to insult.

"In that hour of excruciating agony he did not forget his mother's need. No other person's sorrow weighed so heavily on his mind as his mother's. He was never self-centered in his grief, so as to ignore the weakness of others."—J. H. Jowett.

And from that hour John took the mother of Jesus into his own home.

Conduct Mass On Eiffel Tower

A religious mass was said at the top of the great Eiffel Tower recently, the first time since it was built more than 40 years ago. It took place in the lofty wind-swept cage in the lofty tower above the earth. A small table was used as an altar and the music which accompanied the liturgy was the breeze. Special tribute was paid to M. Eiffel.

Made It Balance

The wife had been put on the budget plan. At the end of each month she and her husband would go over the accounts together. Every once in a while he would find an item, "L.O.K., $6." Finally he said, "My dear, what is this—'L.O.K.'?" "Lord Only Knows," she replied.

Huge New Glacier Found

Ice Field In British Columbia May Be Largest In World

Bringing back a story of having discovered an ice field that will outlive any previously known, Christian Hasler and Ernest Feuz, Swiss guides of the Chateau Lake Louise and Banff Springs Hotel, arrived at Golden, B.C., by using train, motor and pack train.

With Major Longstaffe, of Vancouver, the guides reached the headwaters of the South Gate Littlewood and Toba Rivers, 160 miles north of Vancouver, in the Cascade range. The alpine state of the rivers conformed the explorers that the streams were glacial fed and so they penetrated the virgin country at the headwaters.

Huge snow fields and glaciers estimated at an area of 350 square miles, were seen and photographed for the first time. Ernest Feuz states that what they saw is only a part of the huge glacial field there.

Second Andree Diary Causing Experts Much Difficulty

Experts examining the documents found with the remains of members of the Andree balloon expedition in icy Hviltvonen are having difficulty with the second of the Andree diaries, which they believe contains the record of the last days of the trio.

It had been exposed during the 33 years since the death of the three men and its contents are well known by time and the elements.

"If you haven't a doctor," said the tourist at the hamlet inn, "what happens when anyone is taken seriously ill?" "Oh, they just die a natural death."

Another Wonder Of Science

New Device Makes Breath A Kind Of Third Hand

As we have ceased to wonder at the marvels of science, it is not surprising to learn that inventors have found new uses for the breath of the human body besides just breathing, or blowing on one's hands when cold, or on a cup of tea when hot—assuming one is not taking tea when "company" is present.

Dr. E. E. Free, New York, consulting engineer and scientist, comes forward with a device which can be attached to many things, and all one has to do is to blow into a sort of telephone mouthpiece, and it will do a job of work. It makes the breath a kind of third hand when a person is busy.

For instance, if you are playing the piano, simply blow into the mouthpiece and it will turn a page of music. If typing, you don't need to lift your hand to shift the carriage, simply blow and the carriage will slip back. Blow again and it will open the door of your auto, or open the window. In a plane your breath may manipulate the controls. In the same way you may operate heavy machinery. In fact, there is almost no limit to the possibilities which a little "blowing" may accomplish. Only this is a purposeful sort of blowing, not mere windbag stuff.

Believe It Or Not

Mountain peaks in the Cariboo range are growing taller, according to fur traders at Fairbanks, Alaska. As proof, one trapper points out that he has found trees on mountain sides with high water marks on them from lakes and streams now hundreds of feet below. A government geological party has been asked to investigate the growth of the peaks.

Saving For the People

Says Saskatchewan May Save Over $900,000 In Connection With Freight Rates On Canned Goods

"People of Saskatchewan will save over $900,000 this year on canned goods," states Hon. J. A. Merkle, Minister of Railways and Labor. The figure $900,000 had been given to the department as the estimate of a large wholesale grocery firm with a warehouse in Regina, he said.

"The estimate will be very close to correct," Mr. Merkle said. The rates in effect would continue until the close of navigation on the great lakes and then the matter "will have to be fought out all over again," he added. The government had received the support of the boards of trade of Saskatchewan, the Retail Merchants' Association, and the United Farmers of Canada in the fight, which had been won on July 14 and September 19, Mr. Merkle said in conclusion.

"The stalls," we are reminded, "do not applaud so heartily and unreservedly as the pit and gallery." No; they are the reserved seats."

In all Belgium there are only about 12,000 unemployed.

Bore her—Nick, who had never said a dull thing in his life. And he really meant it. She could tell by the look in his eyes. He wasn't joking. It made her smile, even as she answered shakily, because she couldn't quite control her voice: "I always knew, Nick, that you possessed a streak of chivalry; but to have it carry you to this extent—"

"Chivalry be damned!" he interrupted. "That's tommyrot, my dear, and you know it. Come on, Gay. Be a sport. Put on your old grey bonnet or whatever headgear you prefer—the few necessities in a handkerchief and—"

He closed his eyes, folded his arms, and softly sang: "Oh, that we were two playing."

Nick's voice, sweet and true as a bird's, always stirred the girl. She turned now and laid her hand on his. "You're a good friend, Nick—the best I ever had, or ever shall have. I'll never forget what you've done for me just now. Somehow, it makes everything easier; but I refuse to spoil your freedom, dear old boy."

Nick squeezed her hand. "A half hour ago," he proclaimed loftily, "I stood in the orchard beset on all sides by my late uncle, and announced to all who cared to hear that I could conquer the world. And now you imply that I can't conquer a slip of a girl in a pink gown. I refuse to be vanquished! Something tells me that you'd be able to put up with me. Without conceit, I think I can promise to prove a more thrilling romance than Miss Sadie. Run along now, and pack your bag. I'll allow you a suitcase as far as State Lane. In forty minutes—no, thirty. I'll be at the back gate in uncle's rusty five-wheeler. We'll leave it behind us after the person has done his worst. Be gone, girl. The hour waxes late."

"Are you really—proposing to me?"

Gay's cheeks burned, and the young man answered: "I am, Gee! I've always supposed it would be a fearful undertaking, and it comes as easy! For two cents I'd kiss you, if I wasn't afraid Selina was at the window."

To his surprise Gay stifled a sob. "I—can't, Nick."

"Why not?"

"I wouldn't be fair."

"Not to you, perhaps," he agreed.

READ OF A CASE LIKE HER OWN

Decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Moncton, New Brunswick—"Before my last baby was born I was very nervous and discouraged. I saw an advertisement in the paper about a woman who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound. I took three bottles and it carried me safely through that critical time. I have three children now and I feel well and strong. I have told other women about my medicine."—Mrs. C. M. Anderson, 92 Albert Street, Moncton, New Brunswick.

W. N. U. 1558

she looked down on the town that had sheltered her all her life. It had sometimes seemed a prosaic town to Gay; now, in comparison with a bewildering and unexpected future, it looked dear and friendly. Almost, she was about to leave it. The grass of the common was so gaily green, topped by tender, uncurling leaves of elm trees that had stood there for a century. Blossoming orchards sloped to the quiet river; and everywhere was the sweet scent of spring.

Gay's hand tightened, and Nick covered it with his own. "Homesick—already?" he questioned gently.

"No, Nick, I wasn't homesick, exactly; but it looked so natural; and what we're doing is never amazing. Why, even an hour ago I didn't dream—"

She stopped, as if it were difficult to express her thought; and Nick continued: "That before the sun was moon-high you'd be starting on your honeymoon? Well, Gay, we're both in the same boat. I don't wonder you feel a little dazed. I'm dazed myself; but you're not to feel lonesome. I'll see to it. I'll tell you what, my lady, we're lucky to live within forty miles of a state where we can get a license and be married all in an hour!"

And how I've scorned the people who have done it!" Gay flushed hotly at the memory; but Nick only smiled as he admitted: "Same here, old girl. We never know when the shoe may pinch the other foot, do we? But there's one thing I'll wager a bride never did before, Gay, and that's to start off on her honeymoon with her good and chateaux tied up in a bandann."

He spoke so seriously that for a moment Gay forgot the look he had given her when they started. She wondered, with a little chill at her heart, if Nick would rather shed have come to him as well, as most girls would have come. Was there, perhaps, something in him that revolted at what might seem a lack of daintiness on her part. He did know what that red bandanna held.

"Nick," she began, as if she was just the least bit frightened, "did you think it wasn't nice of me to come this way?"

He turned to her, surprise written on his face. "Nick?—why—" (he put his foot on the brake bringing the car almost to a standstill). "Why shouldn't it be nice? I think it is. I think you, Gay, do you know, are a good girl. I left you I wondered just how you manage. I'm not such an idiot as to think you could travel as light as I can; but a suitcase—Well, I'll say, Gay, that when I saw you standing there, not keeping me waiting a minute, and with that bundle on your stick, I said to myself: 'You haven't made any mistake in your girl, old man.' I wanted to cheer!"

He loosened his hold on the brake so suddenly that Gay lost her balance, and reaching out he put an arm across her shoulders, keeping it there until they reached the level country once again. It seemed to the girl an action wholly brotherly. Even after his reasoning answer to her question, she wondered if Nick felt for her the least bit the way he ought to feel, if she were to be his wife.

Her own emotions she did not analyze. Nick was just Nick to her—the finest comrade she had ever known. He was true blue. She could trust him forever and ever. Never could she love anybody else. That he had asked her to marry him out of a sudden impulse of his generous heart, she knew. Was she wronging him by her own impulsive yielding? Yet he had called her "his girl."

Automobiles Get Credit

Have Lessened Cases Of Lockjaw

Says J. Sappington In spite of the enormous number of cuts, scratches and bruises for which automobiles are responsible each year, the automobile must be credited, believes Dr. C. O. Sappington, of the National Society Council, with a great decrease in cases of lockjaw in the United States in the past ten years.

Not that automobiles or automobile have any direct effect on the lockjaw germ. What has happened, Dr. Sappington explains in a recent issue of the council's industrial bulletin, the "Safe Worker," is that automobiles have displaced millions of horses, especially in cities. The lockjaw germ, he continues, is a normal inhabitant of the digestive system of the horse. In the old days when horses were common, these living lockjaw germs were scattered by billions everywhere in soil and dust.

Any chance injury, such as stepping on a rusty nail or a cut with a dirty knife or even a scratched hand or knee caused by a fall, was likely to become infected with these lockjaw germs, which then multiplied in the blood stream, and after a few days, the dreaded spasm of the jaws and other muscles, which gave the disease its name. The lockjaw germs, Dr. Sappington recalls, enter the body through unbroken skin. Some kind of scratch or cut is necessary.

Nowadays, with fewer horses to scatter the germs, such accidental abrasions of the skin are less likely to become infected with lockjaw germs. "It is also a good plan," Dr. Sappington agrees, to have all such cuts cleaned and disinfected by an expert physician or nurse, and to take a dose of lockjaw serum if the physician so advises.

MOCHA WALNUT CAKE

- 1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour.
- 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder.
- 1/2 cup butter or other shortening.
- 1 cup sugar.
- 1 1/2 cups strong decaffeinated coffee.
- Infusion.
- 3/4 cup walnuts, meats, broken.
- 3 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Sift flour, cake, measure, add baking powder, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together. Add coffee, add flour, add egg whites, beat at each addition until smooth. Add nuts, mixing well. Fold in egg whites. Bake in greased pan, 8x8x2 inches, in moderate oven (350 degrees). Bake for 45 minutes. Cover with mocha frosting.

QUEEN TEA MUFFINS

- 1 1/2 cups special cake flour, sifted.
- 4 teaspoons baking powder.
- 1/2 teaspoon salt.
- 1 tablespoon butter or other shortening.
- 4 tablespoons sugar.
- 1 egg, well beaten.
- 3/4 cup milk.

Sift flour, cake, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar, and cream together thoroughly. Add egg, then flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit), 20 minutes. Makes 18 small muffins.

Private Aerodrome For Prince

Demonstrates Invention

Woman Has Contraption Which Will Revolutionize Marbles and Miniature Golf

Mrs. Nora Payne, of Brighton Beach, New York, gave a demonstration of her new invention—a device which she believes will revolutionize the game of marbles, and the game of miniature golf and the game of darning holes out of socks.

Mrs. Payne, who is 28, has a 9-year-old son who inspired the invention. The boy used to come in with holes in the knees of his stockings and while his mother sewed them up, his idea of revolutionizing things suddenly smote her.

Her invention looks like a cross between a bicycle and a gearshift lever. It has a knob at the top, attached to a rod which runs down through a cylinder. At the bottom of the cylinder is an opening and a little flipper.

The marble player simply stands on his feet, clamps the thing down over a marble gives the knob a wham with his hand and the marble shoots out. Any self-respecting boy who owned such a contraption would not stoop to shoot marbles.

Little Helps For This Week

"And this commandment have we from Him, that he who loveth God love his brother also."—John iv, 21.

Lovest thou God as thou oughtest, then lovest thou likewise thy brethren.

One is the sun in the heaven, and one only one is Love also. Bears not each human figure the God-like stamp on his forehead? Readest thou not in his face thine origin? Is he not sailing.

Lost like thyself on an ocean unknown; and is he not guided by the same stars that guide thee? Why shouldst thou hate then thy brother?

Hath he three? forgive! for 'tis sweeter to stammer one letter of the Eternal's language,—on earth it is called Forgiveness.

Therefore come what may, hold fast to love. Though men should rend your heart, let them not embitter or harden it. We win by tenderness, we conquer by forgiveness.

Frederick William Robertson.

Ten Year Average Cost Record Is Given By Experimental Station

The ten-year average of the cost of feeding laying hens at the Lennoxville Experimental Station of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is $2.45 per hen; which means that with eggs selling at an average of 35 cents per dozen it takes 6.86 dozen, or 81 eggs, to pay for the cost of the laying hen, eggs laid in excess of that number being profit.

Four Doses Relieved Bad Attack of Cholera

Dr. W. J. Cooper, Maugham, Alta., writes: "A year ago last spring I arrived in Canada with my family, and one of my sons was suffering very much with cholera. When we arrived a few hours to wait, and told one of the attendants at the station about it, and he asked me if I had ever tried Dr. Fowler's Extra of Wild Strawberry. I had never heard of it in England, so he told me I could get it in Winnipeg. I am pleased to say I had only to give the child four doses and he got well and was quite cheerful by the next morning."

Why Kicking Horse Route Was Chosen

So Railway Could Be Built Close To Boundary Line

An interesting bit of railway history was recorded by Hon. B. B. Bruce, lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, at a dinner on board the steamship "Empress of Japan" in Vancouver. He is a civil engineer by profession, came to this country the year the first Canadian Pacific Railway train reached Vancouver. He obtained a job with that company at $125 per day, and from 1887 to 1897 was on its engineering staff.

"I want to tell this to some people," he said, "who are fond of casting reflections on the judgment of the company in its building of its line through the high divide of the Kicking Horse Canyon, rather than by a perhaps easier route from the engineers' standpoint. The Northern Pacific and the Great Northern had already been built south of the international boundary line and very close to it. Old Jim Hill and his friends were anxious to build additional into British Columbia to drain one district after another into trade routes of the United States."

"So it was Sir William Van Horne's considered judgment that the Canadian Pacific must run as near to the international boundary on the Canadian side as possible. He said, 'North of the C.P.R. the country will be safe for Canada, but if we leave any considerable strip on the south, between the C.P.R. and the boundary—that will become a Great Northern stamping ground. It was for the best of strategic reason that the C.P.R. route was selected.'"

From that time, Bruce added that the other passes had not been overlooked. All the data were secured about the Pine, the Yellowhead and other routes, but to have built the railway farther north would have given the land to the south away to the people of the United States for them to develop—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Wyndham Jones, formerly with the International Coal Co., has gone to the Technical Institute, Calgary, to take several months course in electrical engineering.

Do not allow laziness and inertia to overcome you because times are dull. It should make you the more keen to find if there is some way in which you can make the day better.

Special attention is called to the retail prices of the various lines of goods advertised in this issue. You'll find it will pay to consult the specials, as a few cents saved on each item means a considerable saving on a five or ten-dollar purchase, and throughout the year represents no mean sum.

Two performances and a matinee of "Aunt Lucia" were staged at Fernie with success, several of the cast who took part in the play here witnessing it. Al Cranbrook three performances and a matinee were given, and the Rotary Club and other organizations there assisted in its production, it being sponsored by the Gyro Club. At Fernie the the Elks sponsored it.

Rev. Thos. Powell, D.D., superintendent of missions for the United church, addressed congregations at Coleman on Sunday morning, Hillcrest in the afternoon and Blairmore in the evening. Large numbers heard his inspiring addresses at each place. At the conclusion of the services in Coleman the infant children of the Rev. E. A. and Mrs. Larke, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Ewing were christened. Dr. Powell also addressed the Young People's League in the church here.

Last Saturday two ladies stepped off the Greyhound motor coach and had lunch at the Grand Union. They were journeying from Portland, Ore., to Calgary. They stated they found the motor travelling very pleasant, and also complimented the Grand Union hotel on its fine service. Which after all is good advertising for any place, for satisfied customers tell others.

People You Meet on the Silver Screen

Mack, Charles—He and his partner Moran, who are known as "The Two Black Crows," make their debut on the screen in talking pictures. "Why Bring That Up" was their first talkie and they are also seen in "Two Black Crows of the A. E. F." Mack was born at White Cloud, Kansas, and later removed with his parents to Tacoma, Wash., where he received his education. His first ambition was to become a baseball player, and he played in the Olympia, Wash., professional team. He was an electrician until he went on the stage. He tried blackface for many years, and composed his own stage material. Then he teamed up with Moran, and went to England, where they had great success. Over 7,000,000 of their records have been sold.
